FCC Part 15D - APPLICATION FORM & SELF-DECLARATION

Address: Zeughofstr 1 Contact person: Gerbard Hofmann Phone No: "+49 30 6104 5329" Fax No.: "+49 30 6104 5157" Manufacturer Name: Aastra Deutschland GmbH Address: Zeughofstr 1, 10997 Berlin PPP FP Model Name: 612d FCC ID: UOU9600008612 [IC for Canada: 1884E-90E00008612 Hardware: 33-001544-82 Software: 1.01 Does a system build with the EUT that implement the provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral visit of the provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system build with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction with using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction of 47CFR 15.32	Applicant Masses	Apatra Dautachiand Contil
Contact person: Gerhard Hofmann Phone No.: "449 30 6104 5329" Fax No.: "*49 30 6104 5157" Manufacturer Name; Aastra Deutschland GmbH Address: Zeughofstr 1, 10997 Berlin PP FF Model Name: 612d FCC ID: UCU980E00008612 [C for Canada: 1884E-80E00008612 Hardware: 63-001544-82 Software: 1.01 Does a system build with the EUT that implement the provisions of 47CFR 15,323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper first provision of 47CFR 15,323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for advanced by the EUT that the provision of 47CFR 15,323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for advanced by the EUT that the provisions for advanced by the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15,323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for walting for a channel to go clear? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15,323(c)(6) does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15,323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15,323(c)(11) in eabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15,323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15,323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15,323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15,323(c)(10) the total formation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum Dutance and the soft plan, if time-division multiple-access (TD
Phone No: "-49 30 6104 5129" Fax No.; "-49 30 6104 6167"
Manufacturer Name: Aastra Deutschland GmbH Address: Zeughofstr 1, 10997 Berlin PP FF Model Name: 612d FCC ID: UOUBGE00008612 Hardware: 63-001544-82 Software: 11.01 Does a system build with the EUT that implement the provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(5), 4 does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6), incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(6), does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(6), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and poterization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bendwidth Tramp period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user Than period and time slot plan to th			Eav No :	"+40 20 6104 6167"
Address: Zeughofstr 1, 10997 Berlin PP FP Model Name: 612d FCC ID: UOU90E000008612 Ic for Canada: 1884E-80E00008612 Hardware: [93-001544-82 Software: 11.01 Does a system build with the EUT that implement the provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(5), 4, does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain GA (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR 15.319(f) is obtained Withelter the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s). Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer sha			rax Nu	749 30 0104 3137
Zeughofstr 1, 10997 Berlin PP		Addita Dediscinalia Onbi i
Model Name: 612d FCC ID: UOUS0E00008612 IC for Canada: 1884E-80E00008612 Hardware: 83-001544-82 Software: 11.01 Does a system build with the EUT that implement the provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(5),4, does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(6), incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? □ to Does a system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) the test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Terame period and time site plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage	Address:	Zeughofstr 1, 10997 Berlin
Model Name: 612d FCC ID: U0U80E00008612 IC for Canada: 1884E-80E00008612 Itardware: 53-01544-82 Software: 1.01 Remarks Software: 1.01 Remarks Software: 1.01 Remarks Software: 1.01 Remarks
Model Name: 612d FCC ID: U0U80E00008612 IC for Canada: 1884E-80E00008612 Itardware: 53-01544-82 Software: 1.01 Remarks Software: 1.01 Remarks Software: 1.01 Remarks Software: 1.01 Remarks		PP		FP
International Content Inte
ICC for Canada: 1848E-80E00008612 Hardware: 53-001544-92 Software: 1.01 So	Model Name:	612d
Idea Interval Idea Interval Idea Interval Idea Interval Idea	FCC ID:
Hardware: $3-001544-82 Software: 1.01 Remarks Does a system build with the EUT that implement the provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(5), 4, does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? No Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? No According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? No Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? No Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? No Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? No According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. No Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth No Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth No Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) No No No No No No No N	IC for Canada:
Software: 1.01	Hardware:
Does a system build with the EUT that implement the provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(5).4, does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitori		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Does a system build with the EUT that implement the provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(5), 4, does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices.		1101
Does a system build with the EUT that implement the provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(5), 4, does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices.				Remarks provisions of 47CFR 15.323(c)(5) enabling the use of the upper threshold for deferral? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(5).4, does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Nominal maximum burst tength, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst tength, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum perating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details recarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	Does a system build with the ELIT that implement the			Normania threshold for deferal? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(5).4, does your model not use bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(110) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A in time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.			✓ Yes bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(110) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(111) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(112), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.			☐ No
bandwidth in further cooperation with other devices at any range? Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(6) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(110) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(111) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(112), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	According to 47CFR 15	323(c)(5) 4. does your model not use
Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.			✓ Yes
Does a system build using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(8) incorporating provisions for waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.			☐ No provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details requarily the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.		ing the FLIT that operate under the waiting for a channel to go clear? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(11), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and bust length if TDMA techn			Yes
According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.			☑ No antennas for transmission and reception as for monitoring? Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	watering for a disastres to go deat !
Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(8), does the EUT use the same		✓ Yes
Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	antennas for transmissi	on and reception as for monitoring?	∏ No provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(10) to test for deferral only in conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	Does the system built with the EUT that operate under the		Yes
Conjunction with a companion device? Does a system built using the EUT that operate under the provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.			☑ No provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	conjunction with a comp	panion device?
provision of 47CFR 15.323(c)(11) enabling the access criteria check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	Does a system built usi	ng the EUT that operate under the check on the receive channel while in the presence of collocated interference? According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.			_
According to 47CFR 15.323(c)(12), does EUT not work in a mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices. Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	check on the receive channel while in the presence of		✓ No
Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	4 1 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4
Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.			✓ Yes
The channel plan Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferra! threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	mode with denies fair access to spectrum for other devices.		☐ No
Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	Please provide also the following declaration and descriptions
Maximum peak power level Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
Emission bandwidth Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	Maximum EUT antenna gain G _A (dBi), and orientation and polarization for maximum gain
Nominal receive bandwidth Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	Maximum peak power level
Frame period and time slot plan, if time-division multiple-access (TDMA) techniques are used Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.	Emission bandwidth
Minimum and maximum burst length, if TDMA techniques are used Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferra! threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
Minimum and maximum operating temperature ranges declared to the end user The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
The nominal value of the deferral threshold The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
The provision within the EUT for self-check, by which compliance with 47CFR15.319(f) is obtained Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
Whether the EUT does or does not transmit control and signalling channel(s) Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
Nominal mains and battery voltage The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
The manufacturer shall describe the channel monitoring and selection process used by the EUT, including details regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
regarding the time between monitoring and transmission on the confirmed channel. Appropriate timing diagrams shall be included as necessary.
be included as necessary.
			ommieu Chall	iei. Appropriate timing diagrams shall
Signed by: Becker Signature: Can Un Beller. Date: July 10th 20th	DE MOIDUEU DE NECESSAI	1.1.
Date: 104 2012	Signed by:	Beover Signature:	Can Vi	n Belle.	